

Gregory J. Olinde background

He is senior vice president and regional director of Bay National Bank in the Salisbury office. Greg joined Bay National in December 2002 and has over 16 years of banking and business experience. Prior to joining the bank, Greg was the Retail Marketing Manager for Cato Gas & Oil and vice president of Mercantile Peninsula Bank, successor by merger to The Bank of Fruitland.

Greg earned a BS degree in Chemistry from the Henson School of Science (1990) and Master of Business Administration degree from the Perdue School of Business (1992) at Salisbury University. He is a graduate of the RMA Commercial Lending School and Maryland Bankers School.

He currently is the president of the Fruitland City Council, board member of the Fruitland Chamber of Commerce and Fruitland Economic Development Commission, Greater Salisbury Committee member and trustee for the Richard A. Henson Foundation, Inc.

He and his wife have three children and reside in Fruitland.